FGM—What is it?

FGM is sometimes known as cutting

FGM ranges from a small cut to total removal of the outside parts of the female genitalia

It is practised in a number of countries including Africa, Asia and South America

It is usually done for cultural reasons

It can also happen in the UK or girls may be taken on a holiday overseas for it to happen

Some girls think it is ok to have this done to them because it is part of their culture and it signifies them becoming a woman.

It is estimated that in the UK there are approximately 20,000 girls under the age of 15 at risk of FGM every year.

Why isn't FGM ok?

It's illegal and a person could go to prison for up to 14 years

Health problems following FGM

Short term problems:

It is painful

You will bleed

You may get an infection

Long term problems:

Problems with pregnancy and childbirth

Continuous infections

Some people die from FGM

Menstrual problems

You may feel upset, down and depressed

I am worried that FGM may happen or has happened to me. What can I do?

You need to talk to an adult who you trust. This may be a teacher, Student Support Officer, Sports Coach

If you don't want to talk to someone you know, you can also talk to;

- Peterborough Children's Services — 01733 864180 or 01733 864170
- Cambridgeshire Children's Services — 0345 045 1362
- Outside of Office Hours — 01733 234724
- NSPCC — Tel 0800 800 5000
- FGM Helpline — Email: fgmhelp@nspcc.org.uk or Tel: 0800 028 3550

What might happen when I have told someone?

You have been really brave. People will listen to what you have told them and will explain to you what might happen next.
